04 Summer Travel Tips

Summertime often means summer travel, and though travel plans may be different this year, now is a good time to review these summer driving safety tips. Prevention and planning may take a little time up front but will spare you from dealing with the consequences of a breakdown or worse yet, a high way crash – later.

Even a well-maintained vehicle can break down, so it's advisable to put together an emergency roadside kit to carry with you. A cell phone tops the lists of suggested emergency kit contents since it allows you to call for help when and where you need it.

Regular maintenance such as tune-ups, oil changes, battery check and tire rotations go a long way towards preventing breakdowns. If your vehicle has been serviced according to the manufacturer's recommendations, it should be in good condition to travel. If not – or you don't know the service history of the vehicle you plan to drive- schedule a preventive maintenance check-up with your mechanic right away.

EMERGENCY ROADSIDE CHECKLIST

- Cell phone and charger
- First aid kit
- Flashlight
- Flares and a white flag
- Jumper cable
- Tire pressure gauge
- Jack (and ground mat) for changing a tire
- Work gloves and a change of clothes
- Basic repair tools and some duct tape (for temporarily repairing a hose leak)
- Water and paper towels for cleaning
- Non-perishable food, drinking water and medicine
- Extra windshield washer fluid
- Maps
- Emergency blankets, towels and coats
